- “Know Your Rights” SF Deputy Public Defender Emily

Goldman

Miranda Rights: “You have the right to remain silent anything you say it can and will be used against you in the court of law, You have the right to an attorney, if you cannot afford an attorney one could be provided to you, with these rights in mind to wish to speak to us”

Hello everyone, I wanted to make myself available. If you have questions I will like to give answers. Public Defender in Juvenile division for about 22 years, want to let you know new law which requires the police department to connect juvenile defense attorney anytime they take to detention center. It used to be that police officers would question and interrogate minors though they would by and law give Miranda rights that they wouldn't need to talk, but kids would waive those and would start talking and kids would waive them because it is stressful to be in custody and would want to talk their way out. Everytime a young person is miranda's everytime an SFPD stops a minor weather it's 2:00am they are required to call us and we can advise the young person to to remain silent, and we will go through Miranda rights and then they will call us and we get a chance to talk to the young person. It's not a usual, ideal usually the police officer has to use their own personal cell, we want a little more privacy, in the police car. We advice to not answer any questions from a police officer for whatever it is they would pull over opr stop for, we then get the police office back in the phone and we ask do you intend to question, and 99% of the time they will not continue questioning. This is a huge gae changer in juvenile practice which has essentially meant that kids have stopped making incriminating statements. BUt, it is important to note even though we advised to not answer any \question even though we ask to remain calm and respect, we advise to answer basic questions, like name, address, because if you dont cooperate with officers can be another charge. What i have noticed with adults and children if you do get \passed from miranda warning very often officers attack them to get them to talk, they won't ask the follow up obvious question “now that you know do you still wish to talk” they trick, and pretend to use a card, look down, look up so “what happened to them” to invite a conversation, something to be careful of, let our clients and the population that we are serving. Also very often young people want to explain what happened, because if you are open and honest they will help you out, young people are susceptible to that tactic. You can remind clients that thank you officer, i appreciate you helping me out but at this time i wish to invoke my right to remain silent, or i'd love to talk to you more, but i'd like for you to call the SF Public Defender's office, before i make a statement help to not give more ammo to cops, if you haven't already please call. We are available 24 hours a day now. Pause, stop, see if anyone has a question. Question: Up to what age? Answer: Young person up to what age? Up to 17. Question: TS 1. What would your advice be if someone is stopped and someone does have drugs in the car? Should be honest or let the cops find it. SFPD has an “like God” attitude and gets pissed if you lie to them. 2nd question: what if you have an illegal gun? And they have a probable cause? Answer: I recommend never give consent to search, but don't protest or argue, police will phrase things in a tricky way. If they come to your car, they're already showing you a force/authority, but you have rights, if they want to search but don't have probably cause to search, “mind if i take quick look inside: the answer should always be “yes i do, mind, you don't have my consent to search: but if they have probable cause, then you say “where would you like me to stand” but motion to suppress any evidence if they search without consent and probable cause, they kind of pretend that they have probably cause to search, defense attorney, can say illegal search. Officer may say “ i did give consent” I understand the wanting to cooperate an already stressful situation, but there are ways to cooperate with maintaining rights. Like a parking stop/ officer, I have provided you with my info, am I free to leave? Then they have to tell you, and then thank you very much and do not ever give up those rights. Question: Who are you? I am a little late, what is this presentation about. Emily Public Defender, “Know Your Rights” Thomas: advise young as well as older people “if police have a warrant, they will be arrested, I have wondered in terms of work with people, is there a way to do a legal check-up with yourself, did I pay the ticket? Is there such a thing as a legal check-up? Answer: makes a lot of sense and very good question, not sure about adults, but I imagine in the clerk's office at 850 Brynat check to see if there are any holds, also call the Public Defender's office, call main number and can run a cms check, warrants, holds, anything can come up maybe traffic court, as far juvenile office, if you call Kim you can call and find out the answer, you are now about to call and ask. If you suspect a young person may have a warrant give us a call and we can check. Question: is this only SF? Answer: with juvenile warrants, systems/courts/ have an interest in serving them to be in the wind rather than be at risk, an optimistic way of viewing. Difficulties for probation officer or district attorney, difficult. We want those kids to be safe and warrants cleared. SF has been notorious for kids getting warrants, not the case for adults which is ironic. DA/Courts/Probation is working on those issues, like other counties, SF wants to be progressive and youth to be cleared of warrants. Greg: Question: Thomas pulled a moment of my life, a police officer had stopped me at the light, before i could put everything together and could go. Then another officer pulled me over and said that if there was a warrant, and was taken into custody, a lot of us are scared of traffic court, but get over that fear of traffic court, pretty expensive, it turns into an incident, it's a valuable lesson. Not as scary. Differentiate: if you think you have a misdemeanor or felony that is different from traffic, with traffic violations: might have accelerated into a misdemeanor infraction warrant, the clerk won't call the deputy. Question: Stop for speeding: “Sir, did you know you were speeding?” Answer: how would you respond? Police frame a lot of questions, you always have to be on your toes to not make an incriminating statement, like you're doing something if you don't answer correctly, my answer to that would be something along the lines of, “i'm not comfortable answering questions” any info you want to pass along? Warning or issue a citation along those lines.

○ In person learning/Program Updates: Community Hubs/Distance Learning

Give space for updates around programming and let us know how it is going:

Judith - Handful Players: Back on site 22 weekly classes, but down from 40 weekly classes in person, kids are energetic, doing a lot of dance classes. We're working with all the YMCA, KIPP bayview, Booker T. & Up On Top.

Nate - SF Rebels: Rec & Park, looking for TLC program, middle schoolers to do Tennis, our entreupernur program, we have some for young and older folks, giving $1,000 stipend, twice a week two hour classes. financial literacy, 9:00am - 11:00am will send flyers, these are virtual. Rebels: office in Divisadero, case management, overbooked, send out on that, junior nba league, 287, we have a waiting list in mid-october, keep you guys informed, send flyers thank you.

Miriam - Prince Hall: We're finally settling down with our inperson program, still have a few kids out because they were exposed, looking forward to tfiul program where all kids are there that hasn't happened yet. For the kids we do have we are evaluating where they are and find the tools to help them academically. I will contact Nate and Judith offline and am really excited about it and get comfortable, Yay!

Karen - Community Grows: BEEts still accepting applications and in process with getting all the contracts with school sites it has been a long process but excited to start in person again.

USF - Engage SF Literacy: Dresden: Tutors back in school crazy to say it has been so long. Magic Zone, and Hybrid with Prince Hall and back online with Booker T. Washington, 55 tutors.

Kaneshia - Hamilton Rec: Acting as Director and coordinator, we are working with Rosa Parks Schools, tennis everyday, tutoring, Channing: channing.hale@sfgov.org 4 Rec & Park sites, looking to enroll more middle schoolers, equity zone, in this area, parents are welcome to reach out, we are still recruiting, one on one tutoring, feed them dinner and snack, this year is our first year doing middle school. Great to hear this call, and be apart of this meeting. Brittany: Welcome to our Mo'MAGIC family, you are more than welcome to join, and make sure you are in our correspondence moving forward.

Maria - Success Center: Our school was at civic center now we moved to Fillmore plaza area, our school is for 17 - 25 year olds that didn't finish high school, partnership with john muir charter schools and we are in the neighborhood to get their high school diploma. The program offers GEDs. Interested in talking to Nathan Ford.
